

33,000 Organized Criminal Gangs

by Phillip W. Weiss

The top threat to the security of the United States is not external but internal, namely the war going on INSIDE THE UNITED STATES between the forces of lawlessness and the forces of law and order over control of the neighborhoods where we live and work.

According to the FBI, there are over 33,000 organized criminal gangs operating inside the United States. Meanwhile, shockingly, despite the existence of TENS OF THOUSANDS of criminal gangs INSIDE THE UNITED STATES, there are politicians who would rather spend tens of billions to fight an undeclared proxy foreign war than improve public safety INSIDE THE UNITED STATES.

It is true that the US should sympathize with any nation that is racked by war. However, the US cannot support a foreign policy that diverts urgently needed resources away from the war going on inside the United States, a war that the American people cannot afford to lose.

As of September 30, 2021, the total number of violent crimes in the United States was 2.55 million or 397.5 violent crimes per 100,000 inhabitants or 1 violent crime per every 253 persons.

As the above stats show, a person has a good chance of not becoming a victim of a violent street crime. However, what these stats also show is that violent street crime does happen. No one knows who the next victim will be, and it is this uncertainty that makes violent street crime so terrifying and demoralizing, which is exactly what the forces of lawlessness want.
