Blueprint for Destruction

by Phillip W. Weiss

What makes the 2026 election so astonishing and noteworthy is that for the first time in US history the United States has a political party, in this case the Democrat party, in power that first, embraces Marxism as its core ideological driver of its political agenda and second, having embraced Marxism, does not want to preserve, protect and strengthen the United States but destroy it. This situation is unprecedented in United States history insofar that in 1861, when the Democrat party provoked the Civil War, the Democrat party did not want to destroy the United States but simply leave it. This time, driven by a Marxist ideology that rejects compromise in favor of class struggle and violence as catalysts for social change, the Democrat party wants to destroy the United States. And what makes this situation even more remarkable is that this party that wants to destroy the United States was VOTED INTO OFFICE. This suggests that in the United States a major cultural shift has occurred which is driving US politics in an unchartered and dangerous direction. Now, listed below are four plausible ways, each way justified on ideological grounds, the Democrat party can achieve its goal to destroy the United States.

1. In the name of achieving universal health care equity, nationalize the entire health care industry. That one action alone would leave the US economy a smoldering ruin. But if that does not work then

2. In the name of achieving universal affordability, abolish the free market system and impose drastic across the board price cuts on the entire economy. That would wipe out the entire private sector and trigger a hew Great Depression. But if that does not work then

3. In the name of achieving social justice and redressing past inequities, enact a national program of reparations that would transfer wealth from one group to other groups based on race. That action would divide the country along racial lines and create conditions for a new civil war. But if that does not work, then

4. In the name of ending colonial oppression, cancel the US security alliance with Israel and join the rest of the world in demanding that Israel cease to exist. That action would destabilize the Mideast, possibly trigger a nuclear war and place the survival of the entire planet at risk, which of course also includes the United States.
