

Little Known Records

Compiled by Phillip W. Weiss

Most cigarettes smoked.

On May 12, 1992, Kenny Cohancy of Dew Point, North Carolina, smoked 97 unfiltered cigarettes in ten minutes.

Most alcohol consumed

On July 4, 1951, Delbert J. Latimore of Melbourne, Australia, drank two gallons of scotch in five minutes.

Loudest belch.

On November 26, 1989, Vasko V. Kapotski of Cracow, Poland, produced a belch that was heard seven miles away.

Most hamburgers consumed.

On March 4, 2003, Yoshioni Hagakawa of Tokyo, Japan, consumed 45 hamburgers in ten minutes.

Most beer consumed.

On January 1, 1991, Boris Kelmonov of Bryansk, Soviet Union, consumed 94 cans of beer in eight minutes.

Most baseball games attended.

Between 1946 and 2015, Lester Harenstein of White Plains, New York, attended 5,234 major league baseball games.

Most singles' dances attended.

Between 1975 and 1985, Arno Delaberti of Brooklyn, New York, attended 2,363 singles' dances where he collected 17,356 telephone numbers.

Most personal bankruptcies.

Between 2005 and 2017, Cynthia Livingston of Pierre, South Dakota, filed for bankruptcy 97 times.

Most cups of coffee consumed.

On February 8, 1995, Wolfgang von Lebinsdorf consumed nine gallons of black coffee in 15 minutes.

Most dogs as house pets.

On March 4, 1986, it was recorded that Enid LaPlante of Madison, Wisconsin, owned 47 dogs.

Biggest private house party.

On May 26, 1938, Louis Korningstone of Leeds, United Kingdom, hosted a private house party for 4,204 people.

Longest sung song.

On December 11, 1928, Luciano Gavoratti of Trieste, Italy, sang an aria nonstop for 46 hours.

Most military decorations

Vladimir Dorochevsky, who served in the Soviet Red Army from 1918 to 1948, was awarded 427 military medals and decorations.

Most bottles deposited.

On April 4, 2019, Pops Yohansky of Lima, Ohio, deposited 2,347 bottles in one day.

Most commercial airplane flights as a passenger.

In 2007, Yorda Kokennaden, of Helsinki, Finland, flew on 324 commercial airline flights.

Most movies as a background extra.

In 2009, Dobbie Lincoln of Macon, Georgia, appeared in 982 movies and television shows as a background extra.

Longest single episode of procrastination.

Ari Ben-Shiron of Tel Aviv, Israel, waited 1,727 days to pay a twenty-dollar electric bill.

Most times walking across the Brooklyn Brooklyn Bridge.

On September 4, 2000, Sonia Lopez y Sanchez of New York City walked across the Brooklyn Bridge 44 times.

Long continuous episode of thumb-twiddling.

On June 9, 1994, Reginald Jones-Smith of Winnipeg, Canada, twiddled his thumbs nonstop for 23 straight hours.

Nose blowing.

On August 1, 1898, Leonard Stoningham of San Francisco, California, blew his nose nonstop for eighteen straight hours.

Longest yawn.

On January 9, 1962, Margaret Lenchman of Poughkeepsie, New York, yawned nonstop for ninety-two minutes.

Most documents processed by a bureaucrat.

On April 4, 2009, Elmer Levine, chief administrative officer of New Rochelle, New York, stamped 1,037 government documents in one day.

Most times a write-in candidate for POTUS.

Between 1920 and 1952, Hannah Lee Atkins of Charleston, West Virginia, was a write-in candidate for POTUS nine times.

Largest cake ever consumed by one person

On May 4, 2010, Ed LoPionti of Kalamazzo, Michigan, ate a twenty-pound chocolate layer cake in seven minutes.

Most personal credit cards.

Gregor Yavashinski of Yakima, Washington, possesses 2,489 credit cards, with a total credit limit of $3,728,379.

Most airline travel miles

In 2007, Heinz Schimlinger of Bonn, Germany, amassed a total of 8,236,089 travel miles.

The loudest snore.

Topsy O'Toole, of Newark, Ohio, produced snoring that was heard seven miles away.

The most stupid person.

Piermont Lavachevksy of Guadalajara, Mexico, committed twenty-seven stupid acts in five minutes.

